THE STRELOK AND GARNET.

Bussian and English War Ships-Specula tions Concerning Their Intentions Toward One Another, vette Strelok, after leaving this port Tuesday night, pa sed out to sea, and is now supposed to be on her way to New York. Second Secretary Gregor, of the Russian Legation, arrived here yesterday, but left at once for Washington when he learned that the Strelok had departed. The British ship Garnet is still at old Point Comfort, but it is thought she will follow the Strelok at once. The Russian ship seems to have given her antagonist the slip. The Garnet was close by the Strelok until Monday, when she dropped down to Fortress Monroe. Under internstional laws the Garnet can not follow under twenty-four hours if it is her purpose to engage the Strelok. Now the Strelok has a speed of fifteen knots against the Garnet's thirteen knots, and her gaus are of much larger range than are those of the Garnet. If the Garnet should attempt to engage her, she would first have to find the Strelok out side, and then the Strelok might keep just ontside of the range of her antagonist, and yet with her superior guns play upon the Garnet. This gives the Russian ship a big advantage, and, although she is the smaller ship, she would prove a formidable antago-

Further Speculations as to the Strelok's Intentions.

New York, April 30 -The arrival of the Russian man-of-war Strelok in the North as to its object. A prominent shipping man said: "It is more than probable that the Strelok has received secret orders that war has been or will be declared within a few days and has been ordered to pick up a trans-atlantic steamer. It is certain that is likely to be surprised." The Strelok is not a large vessel, being only of 1,335 tons register and mounting ten guns, four of which are heavy rifled. It has a great spread of canvass, with double top sails, and might by devices known to seamen easily mask her warlike character and pass for an innocent merchantman. A reversed ensign, the signal of distress, would enable her to approach a Cunarder, a Guion or any of the splendid vessels that enter and leave this port almost william H. Guion and of F. W. J. Hurst. of farewell to their old building to day. They the National Line. They were inclined to trust to the vigilance of the British consulate and did not care to go into the subject. A friend of Mr. Hurst's did say that if war was declared it might possibly happen that the different lines might unite and hire the Yosemite or some other fast harbor vessel and send her out to give warning of the presence of the Strelok.

Upon taking possession of its new hall, this morning, the managers declined to allow the Western Union to put in use a wire. As a result, there is no ticker service at all today, and brokers' offices in this city, the bucket-shops and the open Board of Trade alike have no quotations. The telegraph company appears to have been taken completely by surprise, as the tickers had been placed in all the new offices, and the warning only came after business had fairly been entered upon. The outcome of the controversy can not at present be foreseen.

Sunset Cox on His Mother's Death. [Letter to a Friend in Baltimore.]

I reached here in time to receive the conscious and precious blessing of my mother on her dying bed. "God unloosed her weary star" so peacefully that it seemed like the unrippled calm of a lake reflecting a serene and cloudless heaven. I could not have gone on my mission abroad with such a dear one in life at home. In one sense I may now go without "dragging each remove a lengthening chain of filial fear" This loss of my mother is the greatest affliction I ever knew. My mother was more to me than words can tell. She is one of the bonds which binks me to Maryland. Thus: My grandfather my mother's father, was Judge Samuel Sullivan. He came to Ohio in 1804, from New Castle, Del. His grandfather came over with Lord Baltimore. I have heard my grandfather say that he remembered his grandmother counting her beads These Quaker-Methodists of Northern Delaware and early Ohio, when they immigrated to Ohio, were three generations before devout Catholics. But the change of faith never swerved the ancestral integrity. My mother's father, Judge Sultivan -whose name I bear-was selected as the trustworthy Senstor for the bond was every member of the Legislature. This is one of the incidents I love to recall; and sa I lay my blessed mother away to day I feel an honest pride in her honest ancestry which compensates for many poignancies.

It Can Cure It is a fact that remedies almost without number, already contest the claim to cure all the ills that afflict suffering humanity. Thousands have found them powerless to wo, k a cure for them. No diseases have so baffled all attempts at permanent relief as have Rheumatism and Neural-gia. Along succession of disappointments has made their agonized victims despair of the possibility of cure. For centuries they have been considered be-yond the power of medical skill to cure. And yet we say both can be cured, and that ATRIOPHOROS will do the business. The best proof that it can do it is that it has done it.

Rev. S. R. Dennen, D.D., pastor Third Congregational Church, New Haven, Conn. Rheu-matism had kept him from the pulpit four or five months at a time. He says he had suffered all that one could, and live. He took his first dose of Arm-Lornonos on Friday; Sunday he was in his pulpit; Monday he was well, and has remained so since.

Rev. William P. Corbit, D.D., pastor George St. M. E. Church, New Haven, Conn., was laid up for two months with Inflammatory Rheumatism, suffering most excruciating torture. ATHLOPHOROS cured him, and he believes it to be infallible.

H. S. Chandler, of the N. Y. "Independent," says ATHLOPHOROS cured him of Rheuma-tism from which he had suffered for a year and a half. Rev. W. B. Evans, Washington, D. C., says: "I consider its work almost in the light of a miracle. It is a most wonderful medicine. It ought to be spread throughout the land."

The great question is, Will it cure me? We believe it will. Is it worth trying? You must decide. If you cannot get ATHLOPHOROS of your druggist, we will send it express paid, on receipt of regular price—one dollar per bottle. We prefer that you buy it from your druggist, but if he hasn't it, do not be persuaded to try something else, but order at once from us as directed. ATHLOPHOROS CO., 112 WALL ST., NEW YORK.
